

NCARB Is Retiring the Rolling Clock Policy

Have you heard? NCARB is retiring the rolling clock policy on May 1, 2023. Learn more about the policy change and what happens next.

READ MORE

ON THE BLOG

More Licensure Tips From Recently Licensed Architects

During a recent NCARB Live webinar, you asked recently licensed architects about their path to licensure and advice to help prepare for the exam. Here are their answers!

Answers to Your Questions About the Retirement of the Rolling Clock

Check out the answers to common questions we've received so far about our new score validity policy.

Architect Spotlight: Ross Hamilton

We spoke with architect Ross Hamilton about his path to licensure, experiences along the way, and advice for candidates on the same path!

ARE 5.0 NEWS

NCARB LIVE: ARE Update

With Jared Zurn and Joan Paros

Watch Our Rolling Clock Policy Changes Webinar

Check out our recent NCARB Live webinar, where our experts answered your questions about the upcoming policy change.

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards

1401 H Street NW Suite 500
Washington, DC 20005

